Camel scalps punk rocker

PUNKER AFTER

Hungry beast thought her green-dyed hair was grass!

By RICK TRACY
Correspondent

Punk rocker Paula Peterson was feeding the spunkeys at a zoo when a camel mistook her weird-looking green hair for a tuft of grass — and chewed it off.

"That creature scalped me bald as a billiard ball," said pain-ridden Paula, 19. "My beautiful funky hair is gone . . . yanked out by the roots."

It was the second time in three years the kooky camel has made the mistake.

Tonia did the same thing to a bleakly-faced punk rocker in 1987, according to her trainer, Kurt Kraus.

"It happened in a shopping mall," said Kraus. "This freak was sitting there with purple eye shadow, filthy blue jeans, a huge safety pin through his ear and green hair. Tonia grabbed his hair."

Because of that embarrassing incident, Tonia was not allowed out of the Gotafolk, West Germany, zoo.

Punk rocker Paula was noticeably upset that she had been chewed bald-headed by a camel. "I took the months to get my beautiful green hair just the way I wanted it," she said. "I look like a freak without it."

But trainer Kraus said Tonia the camel shouldn't be blamed. "She knows grass is green and hair isn't green — or most hair isn't," he said.

"Tonia just loves grass," said Kraus. "But the instant she began chewing the girl's hair she realized it wasn't real grass and spit it out. It was too late for her.

"It's bad enough when you can't tell boys from girls anymore unless you look real close," he said. "Boys wear hair longer than girls and girls shave most of their hair off.

"It's tough for us humans . . . let alone a camel."

Demon from hell terrorizes Georgia home!

FIRE-EYED spectre flew into Patrick and Denise Brennan's kitchen — and knocked all their appliances out of commission.

By SCOTTY PAUL
Special correspondent

A young Georgia couple were watching a horror movie in their living room when a fiery phantom leaped out of the fireplace — and terrorized them for 15 minutes.

"Flames were shooting out of its eyes as it stormed about our home," said Patrick Brennan, 35.

"Everything it touched immediately became red-hot."

Brennan and his wife Denise were watching Nightmare on Elm Street when the flaming demon from hell gave them a real-life nightmare.

"It came straight out of the fireplace and towered over us for what seemed like an eternity," said Brennan. "We were screaming bloody murder.

"Every time we tried to move off the couch, its eyes flashed and fireballs shot all around us. I've never, ever seen anything like it in all my life. And its breath smelled awful — like a rotting corpse."

The ghastlike creature flew into the kitchen of the couple's home near Atlanta, Ga.

"Whatever it touched instantly glowed like a red-hot iron," said Brennan.

The young accountant said the spectre first flamed into their toaster, coffee maker, dishwasher, blender and refrigerator.

Every light in their two-bedroom home went out during the incredible ordeal. "Every now and then our ghastly visitor would return to the fireplace as if getting strength from the burning logs," said Brennan.

THE Brennans, who live near Atlanta, reported their night-frightened couple, who are trembling on the couch.

Then, as suddenly as it had appeared from the fireplace, it disappeared.

Brennan said the phantom appeared to be an elderly man with rotten teeth and no eyes.

Neither Brennan nor his wife were injured in the ordeal, but all of the appliances touched by the phantom were knocked out of commission.

Neighbors later told the couple a previous owner of the house had died in a small fire apparently caused by a faulty kitchen appliance.

"From what we've heard, the man who died was in his 70s and had had revenge?" Brennan and his wife plan to consult a psychic about the bizarre incident.

"I have never believed in ghosts until now," he said. "But I know what I saw . . . and it wasn't human."

The couple reported the experience to the county sheriff.

"He took down what we said, but I'm not sure he believed us," said Brennan.

Man's incredible X-ray glasses work!

Bizarre invention lets you see through just about anything!

An eccentric American inventor has developed X-ray specs that really work. Unlike the novelty item sold through comic book advertisements, Bill Walton's specs are constructed of the finest glass optics and are powered by batteries.

And they actually enable wearers to see through clothes and clothes as if they weren't even there.

"I have always been fascinated by X-ray glasses, not as a toy or novelty item, but as a real, working tool," said Walton. "My ultimate goal is to sell them on a massive scale.

"But there are serious legal questions that must be answered before I put them on the market. My lawyers are working on that right now."

The most serious legal question is whether Walton's X-ray glasses constitute an invasion of privacy.

The spy version quickly creates an illusion, making it appear that wearers are seeing through clothes or curtains. But Walton's glasses — like X-ray devices in a doctor's office — really do.

"Due to their design the glasses do not penetrate human skin, only woven fabrics like cotton shirts, dresses, pants and drapes," said the New York inventor. "And they're also great for seeing through many other materials," he added.

"I can't discuss the scientific principles involved because I have yet to apply for a patent. I can say that the glasses are smaller, simpler versions of medical X-ray devices." Walton says a working prototype of his X-ray specs took 15 years and over $50,000 to build. If and when they go to market the unit would drop considerably, to $2,000 a pair, he said.

"If sales were good the glasses would ultimately be within financial reach of everyone," said Walton. "What people use them for is up to them, of course.

"But I would recommend that these glasses be used only between consenting adults."

Keep gals off ships, say navy wives

Outraged wives of British sailors marched on two bases to demand that the Royal Navy dump plans to allow women to serve at sea — because they fear their hubbies will turn their new shipmates into bedmates! If the Royal Navy carries out its plans to put women on ships it will end a centuries-old ban against gals in combat.

The most daring surgery in medical history!

TRAGIC twins were joined at the top of the head and were doomed to a life of anguish until doctors gave them a new life.

Siamese twins separated in 3-day operation

. . . and they're doing fine!

In the most daring operation in medical history, surgeons separated Siamese twins in a grueling three-day operation in which they sliced apart their brains!

The tragic twins were freed from a nightmare life as freaks by three teams of surgeons working in eight-hour shifts around the clock.

Siamese sisters Vilija and Wiolija, whose last names have not been released, were cut apart by surgeon Alexander Konovalov and a team of 17 assistants in Moscow. Incredibly, the two girls emerged from surgery in perfect condition with no signs of brain trauma.

"The major difficulties have been overcome," said Dr. Konovalov, who directed the painstaking procedure. "The girls' brains were not damaged by the operation.

"They face more surgery, but we hope one day they will live like normal women."

The two little girls were born in 1988 joined at the top of the head and doomed to a life of anguish until doctors gave them a new life.

Finally, when the girls were 2, their parents decided to risk losing them rather than see them face a life of anguish. They agreed to a dangerous operation in which surgeons would separate the girls' skulls and carefully slice apart their brains where they were grown together. The smallest error would have condemned the little ones to life as cripples — or worse.

HAPPY mom holds the two sisters after miracle surgery.

But after 16 hours, surgeons announced that both children came through the operation in good health.

Before long, the girls were up and around, learning to

MAN HIRES THUG TO MOW DOWN HIS WIFE ON MOTHER'S DAY

. . . because she wouldn't go on diet!

By SUSAN JIMERSON
Staff writer

Bible-toting Kevin Wilson was madly in love with himself, so much so that he hired a hit man to kill his wife on Mother's Day because she didn't lose weight after the birth of their baby!

The Tennessee banker's attorney said his client was furious and humiliated by Joy Wilson's flabby condition. In desperation Wilson offered a thug cold cash to snuff the woman. But the FBI caught wind of the scheme and charged him with solicitation to commit murder.

"My blood boils when I think about it — my child would have been left without me for the rest of her life," said Mrs. Wilson, 32, of Germantown, Tenn. "Kevin always has had high expectations. Not only of himself, but of me."

The Wilson couple married after meeting in church in 1986 and were apparently happy until the birth of their daughter in 1988. Mrs. Wilson gained weight during her pregnancy. And testimony at Wilson's sentencing hearing in Memphis revealed that he was furious because she stayed fat after the baby was born.

Testimony also revealed that he contacted a friend and asked her to help him find a hit man to snuff his wife on Mother's Day.

The woman alerted police and the FBI set up a trap.

Wilson eventually pleaded guilty to the charges and was sentenced to six years in prison after his sentencing hearing in U.S. District Court.

Wilson — weeping and clutching a Bible — said that he and his wife are going to try to patch things up and get back together.

Mrs. Wilson agreed that there is a chance of reconciliation but added: "As far as that happening however, that is not the case."

FLAB-HATING Kevin Wilson was disgusted by his wife's blubbery condition.

Crook returns loot — with interest

Twenty-six years after he robbed a small variety store, an apologetic crook gave back the money he stole — along with interest!

The unidentified man had robbed a small Kansas store in 1964, telling the owner he had a gun concealed in his pocket. He took $70 and vanished. Last month a man walked into the same store, bought a newspaper and a cola and gave the owner five $100 bills. He said the extra money was interest on what he had stolen years ago when he was in desperate need. He said he didn't really have a gun in his pocket that day and hadn't wanted to frighten anybody. He said he hoped the store owner would forgive him — and then, once again, he vanished.

"Ex-Truck Driver Gets $21,108 a Month Doing What You Aren't"

By Neville B. Levin - Special Feature Writer

Orlando, Fl. - "In only 6 months I took in a whopping $126,000 - and I can take any average person and show them exactly how to do it," declares Lawrence Tibbik.

Tibbik began a few years ago with humble beginnings as a truck driver. But the cash didn't start to roll in until he discovered this little known money making secret.

Now, on a trial basis, Tibbik has begun to train everyday people, just like himself, how to duplicate his new system.

Already the results have been astounding. For example, one person in St. Augustine wrote that they had made $9,300 in an unbelievable 11 days!

"I'm no smarter than you," he states, "only I have discovered an amazing wealth system."

"Put my program into action," he says, "and you are admired driving your sparkling Mercedes, BMW, or Cadillac. You dazzle your friends with your new dream home. And people see you radiating like a champion."

"It only took 6 months to rack in a whopping $126,000 - and I can take any average person and show them exactly how to do it," declares Lawrence Tibbik.

"This can really be the kind of person that you always wanted to be."

And what's more," he adds, "he makes an extra $30000 my way, requires little effort."

"Look, there's no magic wand, and past . . . you're rich. It does take time and work. But it's worth it. In fact," he adds, "I only want people who are willing to put forth some effort to use it."

Now, you may not make as much as Tibbik, but if you are a real "Go-Getter," you will make even more. And above all, the nice part is that you win the respect of your friends and family.

Tibbik has offered to send further details to readers who want to learn his new wealth system. Simply send your name and address to:

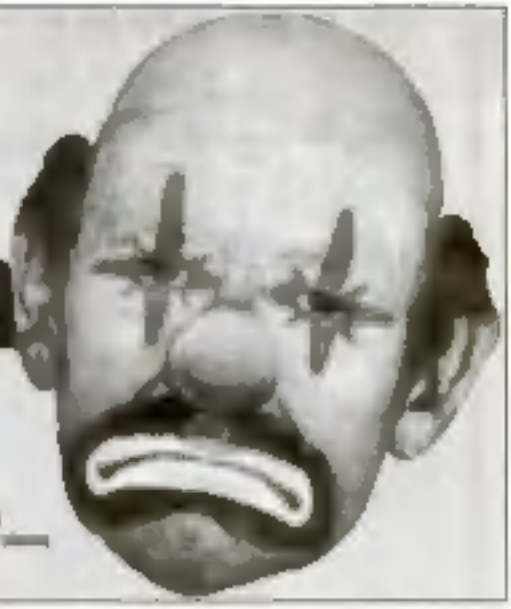
Pie in the face kills circus clown



. . . & leaves 'em laughing in their seats!

As hundreds of unsuspecting orphaned children roared with laughter, a bad-faced hobo clown died from a heart attack — after he was hit in the face with a pie!

No one — not even the clown who threw the lethal pie — was aware that lovable little hobo clown Pepi was gasping out his last breath of life.

By MICKEY McGUIRE

"He fell to the ground clutching his chest," fellow clown Bepo said. "We thought it was something he had added to his act.

"We all watched him die. But we didn't know. He was always trying to do different things to make children laugh. He loved children more than anything else in the world."

Pepi's tragic death came during a free, Tuesday matinee performance of the Martini Brothers Circus that had set up its Big Top in a soccer field on the outskirts of Rome, Italy.

All of the Big Top's 3,500 seats were filled by the orphaned and underprivileged children living in the city's slums and ghettos.

"During the clown act, Pepi got shoved by all the other clowns," explained Bepo, who in real life is 51-year-old father of six Paolo Magalia.

"He is like the little mongrel dog who gets kicked by everybody. Pepi is a small and slender man and he looked so pathetic in his tattered clothes and sad face. He made everyone's heart. The children adored him.

"At one point in the act, I threw a custard pie and hit Pepi in the face. The pie is very soft and it's harmless. But something had happened to Pepi after it struck him.

"He stopped in his tracks and looked up at me with eyes bigger than saucers. Then he staggered backward and fell, his hands holding his chest. I thought, 'Gee, what a great act!'

"We had no way of knowing he was in such desperate trouble. We thought it was part of his act. The children roared — and I and the other five clowns just stood there laughing while poor Pepi slowly gasped for his last breath."

Pepi's real name was Angelo SarGini. He was a quiet, soft-spoken 53-year-old man who lived a solitary life outside the big top and seldom spoke of his past.

But he once told Bepo's wife Maria that he became a clown in 1947, after his 18-year-old wife Adua died in childbirth 18 months after they were married.

The clown's body was returned to Genoa where it was buried next to his late wife and stillborn daughter Christina-Maria.

CASTRO SMUGGLING BIG MACS INTO CUBA — for himself!

CASTRO's a true fanatic — for fast food, say his enemies. Word has it that the Cosmic bigwig's gone nuts, ever since dear old him off from his cigars several years ago.

By JOE BERGER

Kooky Cuban kingpin Fidel Castro swears he'd rather eat grass than let McDonald's invade his island empire. But behind closed doors, the wily windbag gulps down Chicken McNuggets like popcorn and bolts down Big Macs by the bushel!

Fidel bans American fast-food joints — and then secretly pigs out on burgers & fries!

"Fidel is so wild about McDonald's stuff he has it smuggled in at least three times a week — and he's usually waiting with a bib around his neck when it arrives," former Castro confidant Carlos Gomez told a reporter.

"His staff says he'll wake up in the middle of the night screaming for someone to bring him a tray of Big Macs.

"And I've seen him watch hour after hour like a kid eating candy. It's really a sight. He's sitting in an elegant room in his silk pajamas with a mountain of McDonald's cartons at his feet."

A Castro henchman recently scoffed at the notion that Cuba should embrace the Golden Arches now their Commie pals in Russia.

"We'll eat grass if necessary to defend our revolution," Cubans are forced to suffer their Big Mac attacks in silence, their burger-thumping chief has become a ranting, raving junk-food junkie.

"Fidel doesn't want just Big Macs and McNuggets, he wants it all — Mr. T, Quarter Pounders, fries, McMuffins, everything," said former aide-de-camp Carlos, who recently fled to Mexico.

"And he throws a fit when he can't get it. He's like a spoiled child."

Gomez says the dingbat dictator got hooked on hamburgers several years ago when doctors insisted he give up cigars.

"Without his cigars, he just kind of went crazy," his former adviser recalled. "He got a giant satellite dish and started watching American TV until he was glassy-eyed.

"He saw all those commercials for McDonald's and started having his burgers airlifted in at night. It was just like a dope smuggler bringing in cocaine.

"The rest of the people may have to eat grass to keep the revolution going, but Fidel's because he ordered them to make hamburgers just like McDonald's and they never got it right.

"He was so furious, those poor guys are probably in prison right now — all because their cooking skills didn't include Big Macs."

Trucks dump tons of manure on socialite's garden shindig

Snooty socialite Angelica Hauser couldn't believe her eyes when seven dump trucks rumbled up during her highfalutin garden party — and deposited 10 tons of raw manure among the hampered guests!

By LAUREL SCOTT

"This is an outrage," fumed the embarrassed heiress as she gaped at the mountain of manure rising from her well-manicured lawn.

"Somebody is going to pay for this. There is no excuse."

Dozens of dignitaries were sipping champagne and nibbling caviar on the grounds behind Angelica's $4 million mansion when the bombshell hit the fan.

"Everybody was there — ambassadors, movie stars, everybody," the wealthy widow told reporters outside Paris, France. "It was a beautiful day and everything smelled so wonderful.

"Then suddenly the trucks roared down the back drive and started dumping that godawful smell all over everything, right in the middle of our gorgeous party.

"I certainly hadn't ordered any manure, and any jackass could have seen that wasn't the time or the place to dump it. But nobody asked me or said a word — they just stamped."

And the reason of the over-zealous farmer who turned Angelica's fancy-pants party to pandemonium.

"When that word got out, the old men on farms and old ladies in their gowns ran off in all directions — holding their noses and trying to get upwind," said amused maid Claudine Cluny.

"They intended that manure to come to the party that night of the guests even suspect up with it on their shoes. Finally Mrs. Hauser said to invite everybody inside because there was nowhere outside that didn't stink to high heaven."

The party poopers who had come to Angelica's shindig later admitted they'd quite enjoyed the dung to the wrong address.

"It was an honest mistake," said dairy boss Bernard Villalobos. "We're sorry it happened."

But enraged Angelica, 60, says she's suing.

"This was the best party I ever had before they ruined it," said the shook-up society matron. "After that, I don't think if anyone will ever come to one of my parties again."

HOW HEADFUL! Gagging guests took off like greased pigs when farmhand Ishmael delivered 10 tons of manure to the wrong house and dumped it right in the midst of a gala garden gathering. "I don't know if anyone will ever come to one of my parties again," fumed the horrified hostess.

Wife's big paycheck can hurt marriage

When a wife makes big bucks she can expect trouble in her marriage — especially if she earns more than her husband, a new study shows.

It nearly one out of five marriages nationwide wouldn't patchwork are bigger than their spouses. This put a growing strain on the family, according to researchers.

"If a man thinks being a good husband requires him to be a good provider, he is going to be somewhat disoriented by his wife's success," said Dr. Pepper Schwartz of the University of Washington.

"He may have been willing to have her work but never dreamed she would be making more. It gives her more power. She may not necessarily be dominant, but she has more say."

Dr. Schwartz and other experts point out that 40 percent of wives who outearn their husbands are blue-collar workers — waitresses, clerical aides, assembly operators, production supervisors or service workers. Forty percent hold executive, administrative, professional or technical jobs.

Mascara tears stream down her pancaked puss!

TAMMY FAYE PITCHES A FIT

. . . after [redacted] doesn't make Revlon's 'most beautiful makeup list'

Mascara queen Tammy Faye Bakker figures she can glop on the war paint with the best of them — and she's hopping mad that cosmetics kingpins won't pay her millions of dollars to peddle their powder and rouge.

The wife of preacher in the pokey Jim Bakker says Revlon is making a big mistake by not asking her to be one of its Most Unforgettable Women — alongside glamor gals like Liza Minnelli, Brooke Shields, Audrey Hepburn and Melanie Griffith.

"They use all those bright purples and pinks," old pancake puss complained of the competition.

"And then here I am using very subtle makeup, and I'm the one that's wrong. It doesn't make sense."

The well-lashed lush says her reputation alone should make her the perfect spokesman for a cosmetics company.

"You know, I mean, I'm worldwide known for my makeup," Tammy sobbed to reporters.

"You know, all those tons of stuff I

Restaurant's shocking [redacted] Cooked People

CANNIBAL CHEF BARBECUES THREE TEENS

By MICHAEL TODD
Correspondent

A restaurant owner barbecued three murdered teenagers and served them to his unsuspecting customers as roast pork!

— and serves them [redacted] as roast pork!

Felix Cordoba, 57, was thrown in jail and charged with murder and cannibalism after suspicious proprietors of neighboring businesses complained about some "unusual smells" drifting from his kitchen.

Police summoned to the restaurant reportedly discovered the remains of three teens in the refrigerated meat locker.

Severed hand fingerprints [illegible] from the locker matched up perfectly with those that were found on a platter of left overs, they said.

"The evidence is overpowering. He murdered three teenagers and served their flesh," said Manuel Sanchez of the police department in Corona, Spain.

The customers also ate the flesh were not relayed. But they apparently had no idea what Cordoba fed them.

"They were in a state of shock when they found out," said Officer Sanchez. "He told them they were eating roast pork." Friends of the murdered teens told authorities that a man matching Cordoba's description lured the victims from the streets with the promise of a free meal at his restaurant.

Once there, he clubbed them to death and butchered them into a usable feature, investigators said.

The teens were reported missing by their parents on February 22.

Their remains were found and Cordoba was arrested three days later, on February 25, police said.

Carlos Zapata, a neighbor of Cordoba for 15 years, said the restaurateur was a revolting man who gave most people the creeps.

"You could never tell what he was really thinking about you when you talked to him," he said. Officer Sanchez said Cordoba is facing life imprisonment or execution if convicted.

"Either sentence is appropriate for crimes as heinous as this," he said.

Old-fashioned remedies back in style

Miracle medicine of the 90s: Herbs!

Herbal medicines are making a dramatic comeback in America with folks using them for everything from constipation to cuts and the common cold!

Sales of herbal teas and remedies — which didn't amount to beans just 10 years ago — are expected to reach $500 million this year alone.

If that comes as a surprise, herbalists say it shouldn't. The World Health Organization estimates that 80 percent of the world's population gets most of its medicine from plants, and before the turn of the century the same was true in America.

Potent and over-the-counter medications changed all that for a while. But the threat of drug tolerancing, and a growing awareness of side effects is making herbal remedies more and more attractive.

Experts say herbal medicines work best when administered as teas. To make them, boil a tablespoon of dried herb in water for a minute or two. Steep for 10 minutes. Steven Foster, author of Herbal Beauty (The Gentle Art of Herb Culture (Gibbs M. Smith Inc.) provided this list of ailments and the herbs folks take for them:

● Constipation. Mix equal parts of [illegible] and senna leaves. Take one teaspoon dose as needed.

● Cough. Mix quarter teaspoon ginger in cup of hot water. Sweeten with honey.

● Colds. Munch a clove of garlic, then down a cup or two of peppermint tea.

● Gas. Peppermint tea.

● Minor burns, irritations. Massage aloe plant gel into affected area.

● Sedative. Tea of skullcap or linden tree flowers.

● Sore throat. Slippery elm bark tea or lozenges.

● Stings. Apply witch hazel extract or crushed root of Echinacea to affected area.

● Bronchitis. Carrot soup tea or chamomile tea.

SUPPRESSED C.I.A. DOCUMENTS PROVE U.S. POSSESSES REMAINS OF U.F.O.'S & ALIEN BEINGS

OUR LAST 8 PRESIDENTS HAVE BEEN IN ON "THE ULTIMATE DECEPTION"

NOW FOR THE FIRST TIME, ALL THE FACTS ABOUT THIS "COSMIC WATERGATE" ARE BEING RELEASED TO THE PUBLIC BECAUSE YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW THE TRUTH!

For many years, rumours have persisted that the U.S. government has in its possession alien ships manufactured on other worlds, as well as the occupants of these inconceivably craft.

Recently published CIA, FBI and State Department documents verify that the "Allied TOP-SECRET" extremely discovery of an item has been hidden from the people of Earth due to the fact that the visitors have technology the allies have developed should enter our civilization overnight.

In the late 1940's and early 1950's, both Army and Air Force military units – on direct orders from the Pentagon – rushed to the site of several crashes in the Southwestern part of the United States and carried away the UNEARTHLY remains of both the craft and alien occupants. The occupants and bodies were eventually put into "deep-freeze" storage at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. According to military sources who have since spoken out and who helped to talk, Hangar 18 was used for this purpose. To date, no one has been allowed inside – not even Senator Barry Goldwater, who was turned away although he made several requests that he be permitted to check the contents of the hangar.

A THREAT?

Now the TRUTH can be told! Recently because of a new law enacted by Congress known as the Freedom of Information Act, civilian researchers have been able to obtain the report under classified CIA, FBI and State Department documents which verify the fact that we are not alone in the universe — that there is someone out there besides us!

At one point there was actually a "top-at-war" going on between various branches of the government as to who were to get their dollars in these space craft. Even FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover at a signed memo "We must keep upon full control in this discovery." For instance, in the Lawrence case, the Army grabbed the discs and would not allow the FBI to have a fair examination. Similarly, in 1973, Henry Kissinger ignored and Secret Service Embassy reporting they attempt to recover a UFO that had gone down in the jungle.

Behind UFO recognition Everything Global Spending has finally broken the government's unbelievable barrier of silence that has kept this shocking news out of the common media. Disclosed for the first time is the existence of a highly classified research and development/intelligence report from known as OPERATION MAJESTIC 12 (MJ-12) responsible directly and only to the President of the United States.

MJ-12 was established by President Truman to take charge of the technical, scientific and other aspects of the crashed UFOs and the small aliens who were inside the craft when it exploded. MJ-12 was made up of a team of highly trained scientists and military personnel who have been sworn to total secrecy. The group is said to exist even today and now holds the responsibility of establishing an ongoing relationship with UFO beings who years ago set up open communication with our government.

A REVELATIVE RELEASE?

Is this only a space science fiction story?

Absolutely not! In the software 300 page report, you will see actual reproductions of classified documents. You'll even hear from a U.S. Astronaut who shared UFO's for seven days over a military base in Europe, and how one motion picture footage came to be in the world, and several political figures from the director of the CIA, right on up to the President of the United States may be said or by loyalty. Here are the typical Press of the UFO's drawings of the UFO by high level on board the crashed craft ships, as well as actual pictures of these aliens taken by a military photographer.

You'll also learn for the first time about:

• The UFO that was shot at over New York's Central Park, and a photographer knew that recorded that's to exhibit.

• The actual exhibition at part of an administrative "space ball" that has been on display for years at the Smithsonian to the majority of the population.

• The location of a Top-Secret military base in Nevada where aliens are now believed to be staying with the co-operation of the government.

• A Florida college professor who claims he has seen the aliens during visits, and shares this is not a fabrication.

• A strange liaison that was established years ago between the military and the CIA on an exchange of goods and technology, and how the "deal" might have backfired, resulting in the wholesale abduction of humans by the aliens.

HOORAY FOR SPRING BREAK!

Today's college kids are best since Class of '62

I'm so mad at those fuddy-duddy Florida beach towns that banned spring break for college kids that I could take a bite out of a surfboard.

Thank goodness that great seaside resort Daytona Beach didn't go along with those stuffed-shirt politicians in Fort Lauderdale and Key West and told the kids to "Come On Down!"

And I've got a confession to make. Yours truly took 'em up on it. Yup. I packed my best red plaid Bermuda shorts, my favorite beach T-shirt that says "Fit Subs Kick Butt" on it, my best black leather walking shoes and four pairs of new white socks from J.C. Penny's.

My wife Thelma Jean thought I was acting like an old fool when I said I was heading for Daytona to "get down and boogie," as the young folks do these days.

But I'm here to tell you after spending a fun-packed week-end down there with this crop of college kids that they're the best since the Class of '62.

That's when Annette Funicello and Frankie Avalon were making those great old beach blanket flicks movies that daughter Connie Francis was singing "Where the Boys Are."

After that, those stinky hippies went to college and ruined spring break for everybody.

But this year's college kids I met in Daytona were just super. I didn't get one whiff of marijuana smoke ANY WHERE!

And most of the young folks I met were business administration majors. And that's great for the country, by God.

Now I'm not saying the kids weren't popping a few tabs of alpha-gamma-A-amphetamine brown, but what the heck.

I popped an A-bomb when I was a young whippersnapper, too — and it didn't hurt me a bit. I'm here to tell you.

Now Thelma Jean's gonna kill me. But the HIGHLIGHT of my trip was a wet T-shirt contest I stumbled on while cruising the beach. Holy smokes, my eyes almost bug got out of my head! They sure don't make the young ladies like they used to. They're hot, too.

If they make those bikinis any smaller, you'll have to put 'em under a microscope to see 'em. Think goodness I remembered to pack my triple-X power binoculars.

The next best thing was a gal's jell-O wrestling contest. I got so caught up in that I watched for over two hours.

Now I'm a Frank Sinatra man when it comes to music but I was even popping my fingers to those Beach Boys golden oldies by the time it was time to leave.

Spring break is the cat's meow, all right, and I'm already planning for next year.

Here's a happy Ed Anger salute to all you great college kids out there who know how to have fun in the sun. You're tops in my book.

COLLEGE girls who got down spring break Annette Funicello and her movie friends.

Silverman modeled his company after a New Haven firm called Living Benefits, which requires proof that its clients have 18 months or less to live.

"We've had a few people who say this is ghoulish," said Bob T. Worley Sr., who started Living Benefits with his son Bob Jr.

Worley said he usually pays 50 to 60 percent of a policy's face value, depending on how long a person is expected to live and prevailing interest rates.

Living Benefits has cashed out 50 policies, has another 80 pending and has kept applications to 300 more prospective customers.

Grieving wife, 28, kills herself after hubby dies at 89!

CECIL and Susan George are shown just after they were married in 1987.

By JOE PERSICO
Staff writer

Love-struck Susan George was just 28 years old and her moneybags hubby Cecil was 89. But when sickly Cecil died of cancer, Susan committed suicide — so she could rejoin her husband in heaven!

"There were people who said my daughter was just marrying an old geezer to get her hands on his money," sobbed Susan's heartbroken mother Marjorie Phillips. "I hope those people are satisfied now.

"She and Cecil were very much in love and she once told me she wanted to be with him when he died. Still, I never dreamed she'd actually kill herself."

The bizarre story began in 1987 when starry-eyed Susan met and married the fat cat former accountant in Beterbridge, England.

"She's not a dumb blonde," Cecil said back then. "We have an enormous number of things in common and I don't see why the age difference should cause any problems."

I can't live without him, she says in suicide note

But shortly after the wedding, Cecil was stricken with cancer and sobbing Susan spent the next three years trying to nurse him back to health.

"She did not feel trapped or bitter caring for Cecil," her grieving mom recalled. "She only wanted to make him comfortable and happy."

And two days after the ailing aristocrat died, shattered Susan locked herself in her car and poisoned herself with carbon monoxide.

She left behind a tearstained note telling her mom: "I can't live without him."

Kid dares motorists to mow him down!

Schoolboy Stevie Winslow gets a thrill out of stepping in front of speeding cars — because he thinks he's indestructible.

"The little squirt believes he's some pint-size superman," said a paramedic who has treated the crazy kid whom he was nicknamed by cars.

The 8-year-old has been daring cars and trucks to hurt him since he miraculously survived a serious accident last July near Cardiff, Wales.

Stevie suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when he was knocked down by a pickup truck near his home.

Doctors gave the youngster little chance to survive as he lay in a coma for more than a week. "I never thought he'd walk out of that hospital," said Dr. Lyle Cameron.

But yesterday Stevie DID walk out of the hospital. And now he's walking in front of cars and trucks every chance he gets.

Stevie has been admonished twice by cops and cursed at least seven accidents as cars swerved to avoid hitting him.

"Because he survived the one accident and escaped with minor injuries when he was kidnapped, Stevie believes he can survive anything," said his worried mom, Linda.

"He tempts motorists — he dares them to run him down," she said. "We've tried to reason with him. Stevie's had professional counseling. Nothing can change him."

Cops believe it's just a matter of time before Stevie is splattered all over a highway. "So far, we've had a dozen reports of a little boy darting in front of traffic," said Police Sgt. Wendell Tyson.

"He's directly responsible for seven accidents," said Sgt. Tyson. "Luckily, no one has been injured because of the little maniac."

The warning sign doesn't seem to mean much to this curmudgeon hairy in Lawrence, Kans. Could be that she's as tough as the dog — or maybe they are human buddies.

Fishing Breakthrough Catches Too Many Fish... Banned In Some States!!!

It really is true! Thanks to a recent breakthrough in the study of fish behavior, a fishing device has been developed that actually works TOO well. It's called the FISHTECH 2000 and is, without a doubt, the greatest fishing breakthrough of all time! Unlike other fish attractants that may only get the attention of single fish, the incredible FISHTECH 2000 actually draws the ENTIRE SCHOOL of fish to your line!

Works equally as well with hooks & lures.

UNBELIEVABLE EXPERIENCE

Here's how it works. FISHTECH 2000 is a slender 1½ inch stick that is attached to any fishing line, approximately 2 inches above your hook or lure. This technologically advanced device sends a brilliant beam of green light piercing through even the murkiest water. Within seconds, the nearest school is surrounding your line fighting to get at your bait or lure. The results are absolutely amazing! Just look at these unbelievable real life experiences:

"One August day I was trolling for King salmon on Lake Huron. A friend of mine gave me a pack age of [Fishtech devices] to try out. I started trolling one hour before daylight. I trolled with 4 lines. On 2 of these lines I attached the [Fishtech devices]. We landed 8 Kings ranging from 9 to 19 lbs., all on the 2 lines with [Fishtech]. The other 2 lines only had 2 strikes, we missed both fish. Thanks to your product, my son and I had a great fishing trip."

J.B. - Milford, MI

"I've been fishing for more than 35 years. The new [Fishtech 2000] are sure a shot in the arm for the old sport. They're a fisherman's dream. I used them for ice fishing. [Put one Fishtech device on my line.] 16 good eaters in less than one hour. Best was smelting. Tied some [Fishtech] devices to the nets. Dropped the nets into the dark waters... and whamo. Over 900 smelts and 3 salmon in ½ hour.

D.U. - Clero, IL

Reports are coming in from across the nation of unheard of fishing experiences. What's more, the amazing FISHTECH 2000 is probably the only attractant that can be used on ALL species of fish. From deep sea fishing off the coast of Bermuda, to fresh water fishing for trout and bass, FISHTECH 2000 will catch more fish than you've ever dreamed about!

ENVIRONMENTALLY SAFE

FISHTECH'S laser beam brightness is generated by a technologically advanced process in which two non-toxic ingredients interact within a confined hollow 1½ inch tube. This process is activated by flexing the tube and lasts for about 4 hours. It is completely non-toxic and safe to the environment.

FISHTECH 2000 is so effective that it has actually been barred for use in the pursuit of gamefish in some states (Minnesota and Massachusetts) and parts of Canada. Some officials feel that the use of this device gives the leisure fisherman too much of an advantage. They are however used regularly for commercial fishing (99.9% of all Swordfish caught in this country are caught using a FISHTECH 2000 type device) and are absolutely LEGAL in most of the country.

BEST FISHING DAY

Try the amazing FISHTECH 2000 for yourself. If you don't have the best fishing day you've ever had in your life, we'll gladly refund your money. Also we'd like you to write to us about your fishing experience with FISHTECH 2000 for use in future ads. Thanks for your order and good fishing!

Dial away the years . . .

Yakking on the phone makes you younger!

Gabbing on the telephone not only keeps you in touch with others — it actually makes you younger, an expert claims!

Dr. Niels Ritt Jensen says the electrical currents coursing through your telephone reverse the aging process little by little. The more time you spend on the phone, the younger you will become, Jensen says.

"My research shows that people who spend more than 20 hours a week on the telephone tend to age more slowly than those who spend 10 hours or less," said Dr Jensen, a professor at the University of Aarhus in Aarhus, Denmark. "And those individuals who spend 40 or more hours each week on the telephone actually appear to get younger."

"They have a lot more energy, heightened mental prowess and younger appearances. Wrinkles disappear after several months of telephone talking at this level. Gray hair also returns to its youthful color."

While a number of experts disagree with Dr. Jensen's novel theories, the biologist says that he has convincing proof of his findings.

He will present a paper on the subject at the conference of the Association of International Biologists in August 15th, he said.

The 36-year-old scientist says he developed his fascinating tele-talk theory after observing that telephone operators in big city phone companies looked younger than most women their age. He began tracking their hours on the apparatus and uncovered some surprising facts, he says.

"One spokesman looked an more than 35 or so but was actually in her late 40's. In the phone's electrical currents she," he revealed. "She told me she received a second job after she left the telephone company — making voice pitches over the telephone."

"All in all, she reported that she was on the telephone a total of 60 hours a week.

"While this woman was an extreme, my eight years of research shows that there is definitely an invigorating effect on telephone use.

"I believe the effect is a physical one brought on when mild electrical currents 'massage' the body's cells."

And Dr Jensen says telephone rejuvenation can be speeded up if the telephone talker follows these few simple tips:

■ Talk in a quiet room where the surrounds will have maximum effect on the cells.

■ Use a telephone that can be placed in your lap.

This will double the impact of electric currents by using power located in the body of the phone.

■ Try to chat while in a relaxed state — after a warm bath or a satisfying meal.

Your body will be much more receptive to the phone's electrical currents if you feel at ease. "You could see a difference in your looks in less than a year if you follow this advice," Dr Jensen said.

— CYNTHIA WOODS

TALKING on the phone reverses the aging process little by little, says Dr Jensen.

WORLD'S SMALLEST CHURCH

A New York state man has built the world's smallest church!

The tiny church measures a mere 6-feet 5-inches wide by 8-feet 11-inches tall. Chandler Mason of Oneida built it on a man-made island in the middle of a two-acre pond.

The pint-size house of worship was framed with birch, has white aluminum siding and a shingled roof.

And when the chapel is complete, it'll have three stained-glass windows, a five-inch steeple, two custom-made pews, a tiny pulpit and altar, and even a small organ.

Thugs save cancer boy's life — by beating him up!

Teenager David Farrell was brutally beaten by a gang of punks — and the beating saved his life.

The pounding activated a malignant brain tumor the size of a golf ball which had been lying dormant in his head until then.

Doctors rushed the teenager to the operating room and successfully removed it during a four-hour operation.

"The surgeons told us the attack turned out to be a blessing in disguise," said David's mother, Mrs. Farrell. "It would probably have killed David," Mrs. Farrell said.

"When the muggers were pounding on my head I thought I was going to die," said David, 17. "I never dreamed that if they hadn't, I might have died soon just possibly have there since birth but evolved up as a result of blows to my ears head."

Doctors said that if the tumor hadn't been discovered then, it might have been too late.

"When the muggers were pounding on my head I thought I was going to die," said David, 17. "I never dreamed that if they hadn't, I might have died

I'm a love machine but my wife keeps unplugging me

Dear Dotti: Can you help me figure out my wife? We've been married for 18 years and we love each other madly. Our problem is sex. I want to make love every day but she's content with three times a week.

It's not that our sex life is unsatisfying because I do anything and everything to make her feel good and we both have a great time every time we make love.

Why do you think my wife doesn't want to make love more often, Dotti? — Easy to Please

Dear Easy: You say your wife has a great time every time you make love but I'll bet you dollars to doughnuts she's faking it. No woman in her right mind would reject sex if the earth shook every time she had it. I doubt I wouldn't

Confidential

Dear Bystander in Pennsylvania: Anyone who teaches 23 subjects at people isn't trying hard enough.

Dear Shocked in Tennessee: A thing like you has nothing to fear. Give the man what he wants.

Dear Penny in Nevada: Sit on a broomstick, jerk!

Dear Numbed in Los Angeles: How do you know? Have you ever observed in a mirror?

Dear Dumb in Dallas: You're not dumb — you're brain dead.

Dear Scared in Wisconsin: If the goodness only girl, that's the best way to get pregnant! Didn't your mother tell you about the birds and the bees?

My son wants to throw away his life

Dear Dotti: My son is worrying me sick. He's an honor student in high school and would want to have the world at his feet. Unfortunately he doesn't care anything about going to college after he graduates this spring. All he wants to do is get a minimum-wage job and read science-fiction books.

How can I get through to him, Dotti? Don't all these days he'll realize how important an education, good job and big salary are — but will be too late. — Heartsick in Memphis

Dear Heartsick: I believe as the school of hard knocks if your son wants to keep poverty and read until he might ahead and let him. Just don't subsidize his laziness and don't let him live under your roof. He'll wise up when he gets hit on the head by an icicle-heavy icing of $80 to $100 a week.

Do you practice at being rude, Dotti?

Dear Dotti: We're students at Ohio State University and read your column all the time, and because it's interesting or entertaining and because we got a kick out of how stupid some answers are.

We want to know one thing. Are you naturally rude or do you practice at it or both? — Harlequin in Ohio

Dear Harlequin: I'll answer your questions after you answer mine — were you born with half heads or did you earn them in college?

Harry policeman hauled me out

Dear Dotti: The other day a cop pulled me over for running a traffic light and read me the riot act. He ripped and roared me and then had the nerve to give me a ticket!

I told the guy I was late for work and that it was O.K. to run the light because no other cops were in the intersection. But he treated me like I was a criminal anyway.

What would you have done in my situation, Dotti? I'm thinking about reporting this cop to his superiors. — Mad in New Orleans

Dear Mad: If I were you, I'd have my top mouth shut. The cop had every right to read you the riot act AND your you a ticket. You're lucky he didn't bust your butt!

My boyfriend walks all over me

Dear Dotti: I'm in love with a guy who treats me like dirt. What should I do? — Disgruntled in Bethlehem

Dear Disgruntled: You sit minutely like being treated like dirt or you wouldn't be going out with him. Why don't you cultivate some self-respect — and find a new man?

Dotti will answer your letters — and not in the P.S. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Will my earthy uncle go to heaven?

Dear Countess: Uncle Jack died a few weeks ago and I really would like to know if he went to heaven. He certainly wasn't a saint but down deep inside he had a heart of gold and would have given a complete stranger the shirt off his back. — Praying in Wilmington

Dear Praying: I contacted your dead uncle and learned that he isn't in paradise but he hasn't been condemned to eternal damnation, either. He has a few debts to pay for some of his bad behavior on Earth. Once that's out of the way, he feels certain he'll go to heaven.

Dear Countess: I've struggled all my life to make ends meet and can't seem to get ahead. Will I ever be rich? — Struggling Abroad in Kansas

Dear Looking: Some people were never meant to win a lottery or sweepstakes and you, my friend, are one of them. I wish I could tell you differently but I can't. Your future looks pretty much the same as your past.

Dear Countess: My husband and I have been married for 10 years and have been very happy. Recently, however, he has been acting very strangely. He's always in a hurry to get out of the house and he's always late coming home. Is he seeing another woman? — Worried in Texas

Dear Worried: Your husband is planning a big surprise for your birthday next week. I'm not going to tell you what it is but I'll give you a little hint. It involves a lot of people — including SIX long-lost friends!

PERSONAL TO . . .

Tilly in Maine: Your boss and "best friend" are doing everything in their power to ruin your good reputation. Stop them now — before it's too late!

Bachelor in Minnesota: Your husband isn't running around with another woman — he's running around with many women. Get a divorce!

Sad in Texas: Your son is a homosexual. Accept him for what he is and love him as much as you always have.

Lonely in Florida: Your husband is a homosexual. Accept him for what he is and love him as much as you always have.

They disappeared together — right after I took this picture, [illegible] boat captain

"Explanation? How the hell do you explain something like this?" said Capt. Tobiassen, from dockside in Freeport, Bahamas. "You hear stories about crazy things happening in the Devil's Triangle but you never really believe them.

"I mean you don't believe them until they happen to you. At least I had a camera and got something on film to prove it."

cruise [illegible] anniversary of her March 16, 1968, wedding to her husband Bryan.

The woman told Capt. Tobiassen that she and her husband had taken a similar cruise on their first anniversary in 1947. But he fell overboard and drowned.

She returned to her home in Kentucky and in her grief refused to date other men or remarry. For the next 40 years she observed her wedding anniversary alone with a simple dinner and prayer. This year she apparently decided to confront her loss by taking the cruise that would change her life — and Capt. Tobiassen's — forever.

"The weather was beautiful when I picked her up at the dock in Miami and [illegible] said that it reminded her of the day she and her husband began their cruise 41 years ago," said Capt. Tobiassen.

"We sailed about 30 miles east, and out into the Triangle, before she said another word. There were tears in her eyes and she asked me to drop the sails and drift awhile because she wanted to think.

"I went inside the cabin to do what I could by shape. A few minutes later I heard a shriek. I looked out and [illegible] her standing on the [illegible] with a man who looked like he stepped out of an old Bogart [illegible]

"I was speechless. I knew full well that Mrs. Kimberly and I were the only people on the boat. But I heard the man tell her, 'Don't be afraid. It's me, Bryan. I've come to take you back.

"'We were meant to be together always and you know it.'"

Capt. Tobiassen said he screamed the name for somebody [illegible] to run the [illegible] of an elaborate practical joke.

But there wasn't another boat in sight. As he grabbed his camera and photographed the couple serenade before they embraced, kissed — and disappeared.

"The couple have knocked me over with a feather," said Capt. Tobiassen. "You better believe I got the hell out of there.

"What happened wasn't natural. It was the damnedest thing I've ever seen."

Capt. Tobiassen reported the incident to Bahamian authorities who initially suspected foul play but later changed their minds.

They suspected that the photo of the couple could have been faked. But after rendering a search for bodies and interrogating Capt. Tobiassen for three days they agreed that "this is not a hoax."

"We get 25 to 30 reports from the Devil's Triangle every year," said one official.

"About half the stories we hear are completely made up. But the rest of them cannot be satisfactorily explained."

SAILS in part after bizarre incident. Tobiassen's boat rides on swells of another.

CAPTAIN Bruce Tobiassen reported Lydia Kimberly's disappearance to Bahamian authorities, who backed up his story as one more inexplicable phenomenon in the Devil's Triangle.

Starship brought space aliens here 80 centuries before Christ

10,000-year-old UFO found in jungle!

By BOYD RAY
Unexplained

Soviet scientists claim to have found a 10,000-year-old starship in the African jungle — but there's more.

Strange metal documents recovered from the site indicate that the space aliens who brought it here went on to establish a colony

And that means their descendants might still be living on Earth today!

"This is a scientific discovery of the first magnitude," Dr. Alexei Kosmos told scientists and newsmen at a news conference in Moscow.

"The spaceship itself proves that extraterrestrial life forms had the technology and desire to reach our planet thousands of years before the pyramids were built in ancient Egypt.

And the documents indicate that they made every attempt to establish a colony that might still be here today.

The nature of what we have learned cannot be overemphasized," he continued.

It could change forever the way we think about ourselves and our universe.

But skeptics reserve judgment. They point to the shocking fact he did not find it was found in the jungles of Uganda on February 18.

He also described the craft as being "designed with flawless logic leading to huge technological possibilities." He said the starship was "not just long and it undoubtedly good condition," considering that it probably took place at least 10,000 years ago.

"It was completely dismantled on the site so that we could bring it to the Soviet Union for study," continued the report.

The unusual metal documents are also under scrutiny. Scientists have been able to decipher any of the text.

But a series of pictures inscribed on the metal shows a band of tall slender beings apparently embarking on a journey into

The pictures also show these humanoids at work and play in a village of pyramid-like huts. That seems to indicate that the extraterrestrials did in fact colonize Earth.

Because these documents show that the aliens finally left and their descendants were left behind, Kosmos said scientists will be hard-pressed to explain the mysterious disappearance of the pyramids there more than two thousand years later.

Although the alien documents are filled with baffling questions, scientists are confident that the Soviets will soon be able to answer at least some of them. Study of the starship and the documents in the months and years to come.

It is also conceivable that we can duplicate the technology that we find in the starship and build a similar craft of our own," Dr. Kosmos told reporters.

SOVIET artist drew this picture of 10,000-year-old spacecraft

Extraterrestrials started a colony on Earth, say experts

AFTER starship was dismantled, scientists carried it out of the jungle somewhere in Uganda. Dr. Kosmos would not reveal the UFO's present location.

Foods you crave are a key to your personality

The foods you love to eat reveal your personality

"The foods you yearn for carry a secret message," explained Dr. Leo Wollman, a New York psychiatrist who is an expert on obesity. "Just as the 'message' is powerful enough, it will overcome your logic, willpower and also determination, and stir up such an irresistible craving that you'll definitely give in to its appeal.

"Knowing why you find certain foods irresistible won't diminish your appetite for them but will help you know yourself better." Dr. Wollman gave this analysis of what 5 cravings for certain kinds of foods reveals about people:

CHOCOLATE. These are the "reward" foods which convey the message, "Eat me and you'll be reassured you've done well."

Sweets appeal to people who want more recognition than they normally get.

• STEAKS. The message is, "Eat me and you'll feel more powerful." Avid beefeaters are highly motivated, aggressive and also competitive and value achievement and success. They like to be in control.

• EXOTIC FOODS. "Eat me and I'll make your life exciting" is the message. These appeal to people who are often too cautious and conservative to risk trying something new, and so suffer boredom. They love entertaining distraction in evening foods.

• COLD, WET, SLIPPERY FOODS. The message is "eat me and you'll be more sexually appealing."

Oysters, mustards, pastries and the like are craved by people with strong repressed sexual appetites and a need for intimacy.

• WARM, SOFT, EASY-TO-DIGEST FOODS. These foods give the feeling, "Eat me and you'll feel warm and secure."

People who just can't resist hot breads, oatmeal, pancakes and so on are sensitive, dependent and quick to side with the underdog.

• CRUNCHY FOODS. These foods convey the reassuring idea, "Eat me and then you will get over whatever's bugging you."

Peanut brittle, nuts, also things like corn chips are "angry foods" that appeal to people who find it difficult to express their anger openly.

Mockingbird imitates Chicago nuclear plant siren — and scares housewife out of her wits!

MOCKINGBIRD and mimic almost any sound and when one imitated the warning blast of a nuclear plant disaster alert it almost frightened a woman to death.

By WINSTON TAYOR
Correspondent

A 48-year-old woman clutched her chest and went into shock when a mischievous mockingbird perched on her windowsill and mimicked a nuclear power plant's disaster alert!

HURRY Sam Rudisill had to rush his wife Jeanette to a hospital after she Jeanette Rudisill's husband Sam saw the bird out front and thought it was the funniest thing he'd heard in his life.

But when he turned to share the chuckle with his wife she was flat on the floor, gasping for breath.

It took all the strength and courage she had to croak, "Sam — the nuclear power plant blew up."

"You could have knocked me over with a feather," said Rudisill. "I saw the bird and knew what was going on but Jeanette thought the siren she heard was real.

"I tried to tell her that a bird made the noise but I couldn't get through to her. She was already in shock."

Rudisill rushed his wife to a Chicago hospital for treatment. But even after doctors brought her back around she nuclear plant north of Chicago hadn't blown up.

It's not surprising that the bird fooled the woman out so completely. Because mockingbirds have been known to mimic everything from a car backfiring to rock music with incredible accuracy and dexterity.

"We live about 10 miles from the plant and have heard them use the siren before. I guess that's how the bird learned to mimic the sound," said Rudisill. "But the power company always warns us about tests in advance. That's why the bird almost scared Jeanette to death. She wasn't expecting a test."

Mrs. Rudisill has taken a lot of ribbing since the incident but she's managed to keep her sense of humor about it.

"If I get my hands on that crazy bird, I'll wring his little neck," the woman said.

Irish Army drafts tiny turtle!

By DICK DONOVAN

A turtle found freezing and near death thousands of miles from its warm Caribbean home got a second crack at life by being drafted into the Irish Army.

After it was found on an Atlantic beach in Ireland, it was feared the loggerhead turtle was too weak to survive a flight to Florida. It could survive the flight, however, if it first regained its strength. But the only place that could give it the care it needed was at an equivalent across the border in Northern Ireland.

But there are no commercial flights into Portadown, Northern Ireland. Only Irish military planes could fly there from Dublin and you had to be in the military to be aboard.

So an enterprising but kindly lieutenant waved a magic pen and made the ailing leatherback an Irish soldier.

"Cpl. Paggy" is now recuperating in the Portadown aquarium and, when up to snuff, will be joined to warmer waters off the sunny Florida coast.

Hiding your feelings can cause cancer

Keeping your emotions bottled up inside could cause cancer, says a leading psychologist.

This type of person is six times more likely to succumb to cancer than someone with risk factors like smoking or high cholesterol.

But vulnerable people could be taught to change through behaviour therapy, Professor Hans Eysenck said at a London, England, conference.

"It is possible to predict who is likely to die from cancer as a result of stress and their response to it, and prevent them dying," he said.

Where's the beef?

The best meat comes from fightin' bulls

Bulls slaughtered in Madrid's Las Ventas bullring are tastier and better than other cuts of beef found in Spain's butcher shops, say customers.

Seconds after the bull is killed by a matador, butchers quickly skin and clean him up. A refrigerated truck delivers the meat to shops, hotels and restaurants.

About 30,000 fighting bulls are killed every year in Spain, providing meat worth $15 million.

Amazing Breakthrough in Cosmetic Dentistry

TOTALLY SAFE & EFFECTIVE

TEETH WHITENING DISCOVERY

Whiter teeth starting in 4 minutes

Virtually the same formula ADVERTISED on TV for $49.95

but true! our price $10.

SWORN AFFIDAVIT

SEAL

This is not a magic trick. For years we have been telling women how to whiten their teeth with an incredible new breakthrough in cosmetic dentistry. And for the first time ever, a new cosmetic dental discovery which is guaranteed to gradually whiten your teeth in only minutes. The same end result that is only available at dentist's offices for thousands of dollars. But there's a problem. TV manufacturers are bill dispensers that they have to charge you more than $50 with the privilege to make that claim. Our scientific dental laboratories have virtually duplicated the formula that we can sell you this whitening breakthrough process for the astounding price of only $10. If you are not right away tickled pink with how we gradually whiten your teeth, all you do is return it (only 2 months or so) and receive your purchase price immediately. Although you will see improvements immediately, we want you to use the process for at least 30 days so you are fully satisfied.

Here's How It Works

FOREVER WHITE is a totally safe and effective three step process which takes a few minutes to work. You start with a mouth cleansing and smoothening rinse which preps your mouth for what's next. Next you apply a clear renewing gel/paste. Then you finish with a polishing cream which smooths and sweeps the teeth. FOREVER WHITE is not a caustic paste. Both pastes can be worn under your lip as a new scientific breakthrough in cosmetic dentistry that allows you to have whiter teeth.

The Choice Is Yours — $49.95 or $10

You have nothing to lose. Your three step tooth whitening system doesn't care to whiten your teeth in 4 minutes and doesn't mean there permanently whiter. If only 30 days simply return the unused portion for a money back refund. We guarantee that our FOREVER WHITE is virtually the same formula as the system that you've seen on TV or we will send you $10 times your money back. The choice is yours. Don't spend over $50 for the TV deal or send only $10 on our no-risk basis.

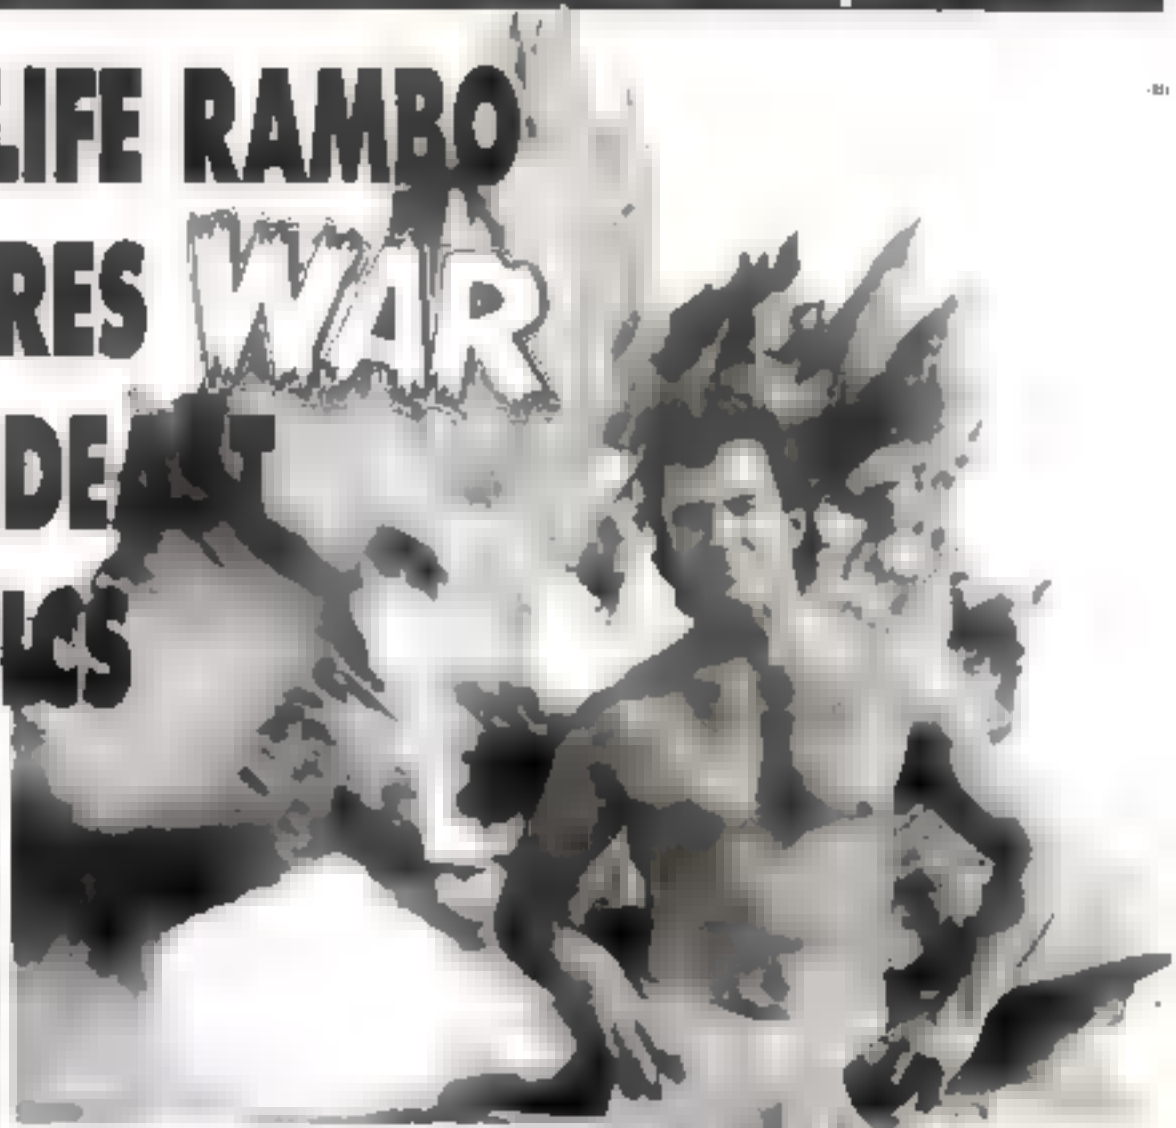
Vietnam hero blasts terrorist camps to bits

REAL-LIFE RAMBO DECLARES WAR ON MIDEAST FANATICS



— to avenge marine's murder

By KEVIN O'BRIEN
Correspondent

A real-life "Rambo" is on a bloody rampage in Lebanon, waging a heroic one-man war of revenge — against the cowardly Muslim fanatics who murdered Marine Lt. Col. William Higgins!

"He's a carbon-copy of the film hero Rambo, sweeping into terrorist camps with a bazooka and machine gun blasting away," reported French journalist Jean-Paul Dacu.

"This man's single-handedly avenging Col. Higgins' death with one bullet-riddled body after another. He's amazing! Absolutely unstoppable!"

In a radio communique originating somewhere along the Lebanese-Syrian border, Dacu said that very little is known of the American warrior other than that he's an ex-Vietnam combat soldier known only as Turner.

"He's a man with a mission," Dacu said. "He's let it be known that he's out to get the Muslim Shiite terrorists who kidnapped Col. Higgins and peacefully filmed his corpse as it hung from the gallows."

Higgins, a 44-year-old marine hero, was hanged in retaliation for the July 28, 1988, Israeli abduction of Muslim religious leader Sheik Abdul-Karim Obeid. He had been held hostage since February 1988.

His cold-blooded execution stunned the civilized world and sent enraged ex-Green Beret Turner charging into Lebanon with a gun in his hand and vengeance in his heart.

"One underground source says he has so far killed two of the gunmen who kidnapped the colonel and at least 12 of the terrorists who had guarded him in captivity," Dacu said.

"And at least 12th other terrorists have been slaughtered in his single-handed raids on their camps. The Shiites have put a high price on his head — dead or alive."

A spy on the Israeli payroll who had infiltrated a Shiite terrorist camp 30 miles east of Beirut is one of the few men to have witnessed one of Turner's explosive assaults and lived to tell of it.

"It reminded me of the Hollywood film Apocalypse Now," the spy said. "Suddenly, without any warning, the night sky became as bright as day as the camp exploded in flames.

"He screamed through the camp in one of their own trucks, steering with one hand and blazing away with a machine gun with the other hand. There was one explosion after another. He must have had the entire camp mined and booby-trapped.

"He was like a man possessed. He was unstoppable. The bandits were raining bullets at him. It doesn't even possible that he wasn't hit. But if he was, it didn't stop him.

"He must have known very good spies because he drove the truck straight for the tent where two of the released hostages were being held.

"I thought he was on a suicide mission, but at the last moment, he leaped clear and rolled into the shadows," said the spy.

"Just as the truck hit the tent, there was an earsplitting explosion. The tent and those inside were blown to kingdom come. Only shreds of flesh and bone were found.

"In the morning, I couldn't believe the destruction one man had done. The camp was demolished and the ground was littered with dead Shiites. But Turner had vanished.

"This brave American is doing by himself here what your President Bush needed an army to do in Panama. The world is beginning to realize that Americans can be pushed only so far before they strike back — in spades."

WAR has been only as Turner is a one-man guerrilla army.

Granny dies after forced amputation!

By SCOTTY PAUL
Correspondent

Aged Ruth Trahair died a week after she was talked into having her right foot amputated on the weekend she didn't die from infection.

The stubborn old woman had refused the amputation because she wanted to enter the Garden of Eden on both feet.

But instead the tragic grandmother of 10 went to her grave with only one foot.

Mrs. Trahair's leg had become infected because of circulatory problems and blood-clotting, but she wouldn't consent to the amputation.

Israeli officials took the 86-year-old woman to court when doctors at Tiberias said she probably would die without the surgery.

"Let my dear mother die in honor at the moment," said the old woman's son, Elisha Trahair.

But other family members convinced Mrs. Trahair the foot should be amputated, and after thinking it over, the family agreed.

A week after the operation at Poriah Hospital she lapsed into unconsciousness and died of respiratory complications from the surgery.

Some of her 100 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were with her when she died.

HEY! Lemme OUT of this coffin!!

Terrified attendants jump from speeding hearse after 'corpse' sits up and moans!

Two skittish cemetery workers were roaring down the highway in a hearse when the corpse they were carrying suddenly sat up and moaned — scaring the men so bad they leaped from the speeding hearse and knocked themselves cold!

By JOE BERGER

Later, cops learned the jittery teenagers had picked up the wrong coffin at the mortuary — mistakenly driving off with a confused occupant by a sleeping babe.

"It was a comedy of errors that almost ended in tragedy," said Police Investigator Ahmed Daoudah. "These boys are lucky to be alive."

The bizarre story began when a relatively uninsured mid Hakim Kaddah and Abdelhay Khiari, both 19, to a funeral home to pick up a body for burial.

"We had been working at the cemetery past a crash and brother at an injured the sides of being in the same car with a dead man," hapless Habib told reporters from his hospital bed in Tunis, Tunisia.

"When we got to the mortuary there was nobody around, but there was a coffin sitting by the back door. We figured that had to be the one, so we loaded it in the hearse and headed back."

The unsuspecting twosome workers were zipping down the highway minutes later when heavy-eyed Imam Fouad Jamaah suddenly moaned and sat bolt upright in the coffin.

The terrified teens took one look and leaped out with the road — nearly crashing their cycle. "We thought sure we were seeing a dead man come to life," Habib recalled.

Police found both men lying unconscious and bleeding on the roadway. They were hospitalized with concussions and broken bones.

The runaway hearse slammed into a ditch, but the rattled rushmore dumbfounded Fouad from the crash and he suffered only minor injuries.

The 61-year-old tramp said he'd crawled into the coffin, closed the lid and gone to sleep several hours earlier.

"The next thing I knew, I woke up and stretched, and these boys were looking at me like they had just seen a

Mom kills girl — with chocolate cake, cops say!

A young mother is accused of forcing her 3-year-old daughter to eat an entire chocolate cake, piece by piece — until she choked to death.

Tiny Myra Griffin's throat and stomach were crammed full of chocolate cake, which blocked her windpipe, according to a grand jury in Baton Rouge, La., for second-degree murder in Myra's mother, Marjorie Griffin, 24, and Frank Johnson Jr., 46.

"This was a shockingly cruel fate the mother had made for the child, and she was determined the child was going to eat the entire cake," said Police Officer Jeff Wesley.

angry because her daughter asked her to bake the cake, and didn't finish eating a piece she was given.

"From what we understand, Mrs. Griffin had the cake in the little girl, piece by piece," said District Attorney Richard Johnston.

"It is the state's contention the mother forced her daughter to eat the cake," The frantic mom later called paramedics when she noticed her daughter was having trouble breathing, said D.A. Johnson. Paramedics called police.

As for Frank Johnson, police said it was their understanding he was present when the child was force-fed the cake. "And he did nothing to

Magic LOVE WATER turns on your sex life!

Business is bubbling at a small plant that bottles and sells a potent "love water" with an astonishing reputation for putting the fire back into a he-haws sex life — instantly!

The spring-fed water comes into ... tale, a legal matter which, thousands of happy users claim, can cur the dying embers of a woman's ... or give ... [illegible] ... ple to a hell-a flagging desire, so to speak. The love tonic is formally called Lithium water. It's been bottled and sold for more than 100 years in a dozen homey little plants in Lithia Springs, a peaceful Georgia town 30 miles west of Atlanta. And scores of satisfied users across the love-ailing nation reported their sexual stamina "is a matter of [illegible]"

But being a refreshing love elixir is not the water's only claim to fame. Dating back to the days when Cherokee Indians roamed the unspoiled Georgia countryside, the water has been practically worshipped for its ability to "cure" just about every ailment known to man, among them

- Kidney stones
- Rheumatism
- Jaundice
- Headaches
- Indigestion
- Eczema

"I don't make any health claims whatsoever," declared Gloria James, one of the water company's owners. "I don't have to, either."

One lifelong drinker of the miracle water, minister Wesley Campbell, makes no bones about its healing properties.

"As a man gets up in years, he experiences prostate problems," said the 74-year-old minister. "Drinking lithium water definitely [illegible] me."

Because the water isn't yet sold in California, Gus Baugher of Sacramento has had the water shipped to her for years. "It's very valuable to my family," she said, explaining that it improved her kidney function and [illegible] relieve her son's manic depression.

The incredible medicinal values of lithium will be the main topic of a two-day scientific symposium in Nuremberg, Germany, in May.

The experts will discuss the use of lithium in the treatment of various cancers, acute leukemia and skin diseases.

But lithium water's reputation as a sex drive stimulant has brought the little bottling company worldwide fame because of the "thirst" results.

Sales are expected to double this year with shipments to Tokyo, Singapore and Hong Kong, not to mention countless more here in America.

It sells for $4 a bottle and if it isn't yet available in your area, you can order it from the Lithia Springs Water Co. in Lithia Springs, Ga.

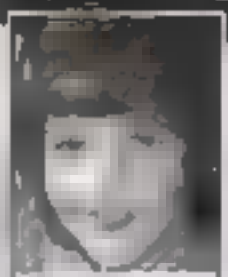
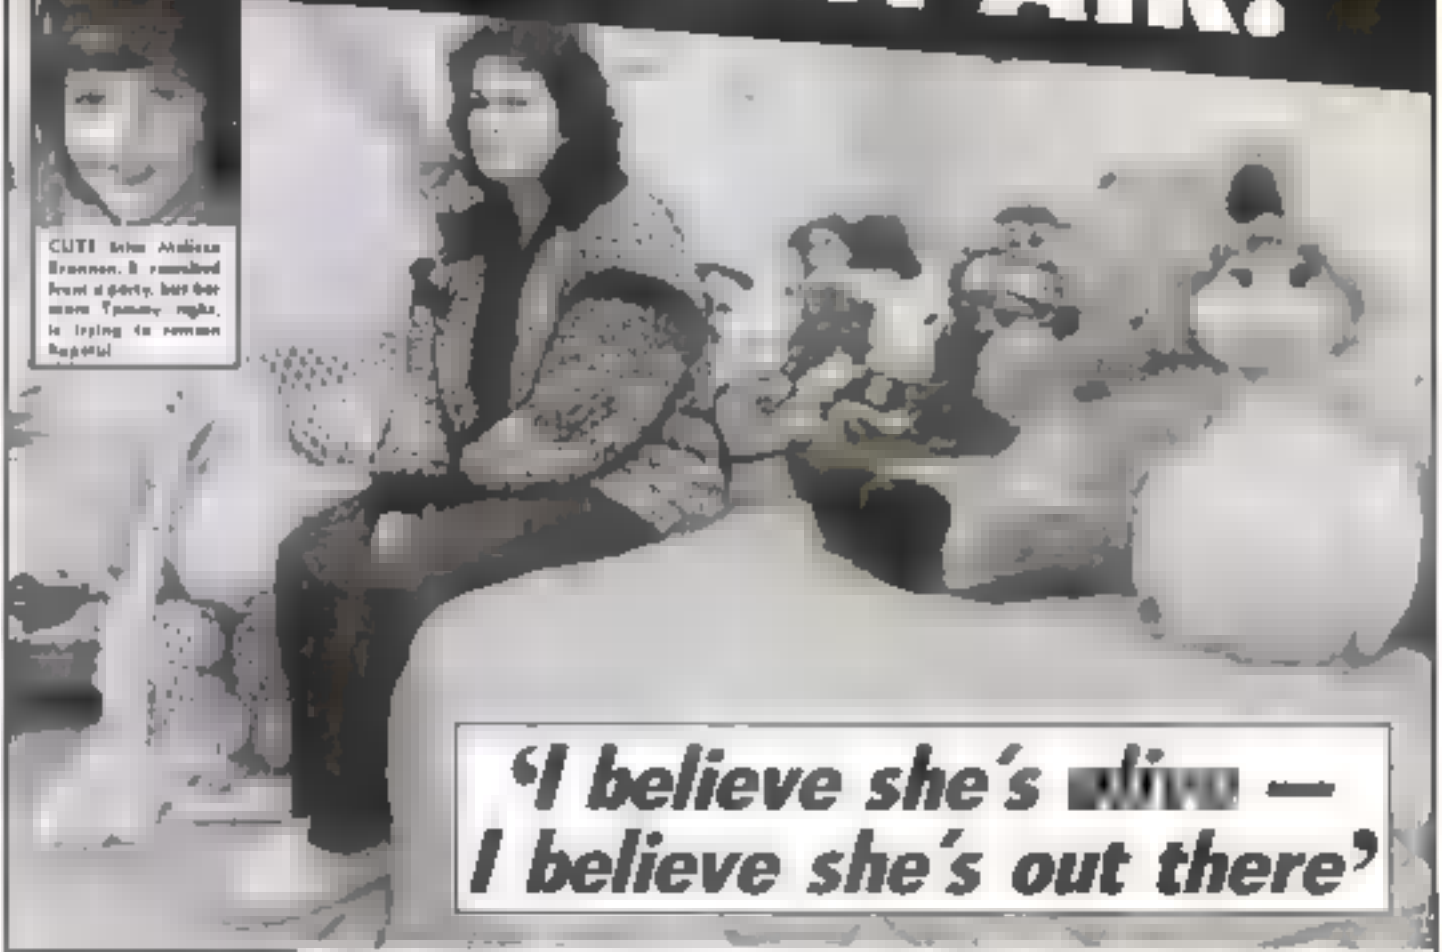
My baby vanished INTO THIN AIR!



CUTE little Melissa Brannon. It vanished from a party, but her mom Tammy says, is trying to remain hopeful



'I believe she's [illegible] — I believe she's out there'

BRIGHT FUTURE

Hang in there, folks! A better world is coming by the year 2030.

The socially glum Worldwatch Institute has drafted an optimistic blueprint for a sustainable global economy within 40 years.

The institute foresees widespread recycling and solar panels replacing oil, natural gas and coal.

Tammy Brannon and her 5-year-old daughter Melissa did everything together until the night at a neighborhood party when Tammy turned her back — and Melissa vanished into thin air!

The little girl had been at her mother's side, dressed in her best dress and playing with friends. Tammy recalled. Her mother told her it was time to go home and went for their coats. When she looked around for Melissa a few moments later, she was gone.

"It is just like I'm living my worst nightmare," said Tammy, 27, who lives alone now in the Fairfax, Va., apartment she went to there with her young daughter. "People don't just vanish. It all seems like a mistake. I believe she's alive. I believe she's out there and she's going to be O.K."

When Melissa vanished on Dec. 2 1989 the mother had decorated them in a flutter at their apartment complex, celebrating the holidays with their neighbors.

She popped into a small utility room and left the door ajar — and in that split second that Melissa had been taken. After they desperately searching someone called the police.

"We're talking two minutes," Tammy said. "It's like she was there and she was gone. It just doesn't make any sense."

Today, months after little Melissa disappeared, police are still searching for the child. Life for Tammy and her former husband — Melissa's father, Michael Brannon — has become a wasting affair. They try to keep their hopes alive but with every day that passes, fears grow they may never see their child again.

"I'll just have to live it," said Brannon, who lives with his new wife and baby daughter in Garland, Tex. "But it's like living inside a lie."

NEWS readers who believe they may have information on the blue-eyed, blonde Melissa should contact the Fairfax County Police Department in Fairfax, Va., or call the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children at 1-800-843-5678.

Kidnappers free victim — so they can make 10 p.m. curfew!

Two bumbling brothers kidnapped a teenage girl to hold for ransom but then let her go unharmed — because they had to be home by 10 p.m., say cops.

Antwin Robinson, 18, and his 16-year-old brother had planned to abduct a drug dealer but instead snatched Adriana Buffington of Carol City, Fla., when they raided the wrong house, said police.

"She and her sister were returning from a restaurant when they grabbed her," said Detective Tommy Robinson of the Miami-Dade Police Department in Miami.

Cops said the brothers handcuffed the 15-year-old's hands in front of her body and drove around with her in her father's car.

Then the two called off the kidnapping after because of the older brother's 10 o'clock curfew.

Antwin is awaiting trial on a robbery charge and wears an electronic bracelet around his ankle so police know he gets home by 10 p.m. If he doesn't, cops then lock up all the people to find out why.

"Apparently, the closer it got to 10 o'clock, the more worried he got," said Det. Robinson. "About 9:30 they told the handcuffed girl they were letting her go and for her to get home as best she could.

"They took off and she was able to drive the car home once it's an automatic."

Cops arrested the alleged assailants at their home about an hour and a half after they let the girl go.

"This case was a comedy of errors," said Det. Robinson.

The brothers are being held without bond, charged with armed robbery, armed kidnapping, aggravated assault and attempted murder.

Bad News Brown calls Rowdy Roddy a 'skirt-wearing sissy'

ROWDY Roddy Piper is furious over being called a sissy!

Rowdy Roddy Piper has vowed to make Bad News Brown pay at WrestleMania VI for calling him "a skirt-wearing sissy."

"It's not a skirt, it's a kilt," points out the hot-tempered Scotsman. "He's talking about a family heirloom and my heritage, and nobody gets away with that. But what do you expect from someone whose idea of culture is listening to rap music.

Nobody in his right mind would question the Rowdy One's manhood. Here's a guy who grew up in the streets and whose career battles with Hulk Hogan in 1986-87 literally put wrestling on the map.

But Brown knows a thing or two about back-alley battles, too — he was raised in Harlem, reigned as the AAU national judo champion from 1971 to 1976, and won a bronze medal at the 1976 Olympics.

"When it comes to WrestleMania, nothing can keep me away," Piper says. "I don't care if they have to carry me into the ring on a stretcher. But in Toronto, the only one who's going to be carried OUT is that thick-tipped lowlife Bad News Brown!"

The Basher is here to tell you there is no truth in the wildfire rumor sweeping the wrestling world that the Ultimate Warrior died several weeks ago of a heart attack caused by heavy steroid usage and replaced by a Warrior look-alike. It's a bunch of baloney.

FLASH RESULTS

You can't corrupt The Big Boss Man. In Rosemont, Ill., he was the special referee in a bout between Jake "The Snake" Roberts and The Million Dollar Man, Ted DiBiase. The Boss Man wouldn't budge when the Million Dollar Man tried to bribe him into making favorable counts against Roberts. Then when DiBiase grabbed a fistful of Jake's hair and wouldn't let go, the Boss Man

. . . now the Scotsman vows he'll avenge the insult at WrestleMania VI!

By BERNIE BASHER
Wrestling columnist

Roberts covered him for the pin.

Earlier in Dayton, Ohio, Boss Man used to consider himself a physique and insisted that he weighed only 317 pounds. Now he has bulldozed in well over 350 pounds of lard, and he was no match for Jake's speed. Were's pet parakeet at ringside, Franklin, enticed Boss by flapping his wings every time he tried to commit an offensive. Roberts put Buddy out of his misery with a browning dropkick.

What Mad Dog Doug Dorsey did to Bobbie Idol recently in Atlanta was beyond disgusting. After pumping twice on the youngster from the top rope and proving that "dogs can fly," Dorsey had Idol quivering in the corner. But instead of pinning him, he clamped on his ear like it was a piece of steak. The referee disqualified the rabid canine, who fought off eight other grapplers and had to be dragged from the ring on a leash by partner Kevin Sullivan.

Mind-boggling powers [illegible]n eyewitnesses!

Super psychic plucks objects out of thin air

While a dozen stunned eyew[illegible] watched, incredible psychic Paolo Paris defied the laws of physics by producing four red peppers out of thin air.

And in other mind-boggling experiments, he's materialized a live sea horse, a live turtle and freshly cut branches.

By DALE BROWN

These are just a few of the amazing feats that have made the 31-year-old paysaic a legend in Turin, Italy — and they've been observed by such reliable witnesses as an electronics engineer, a chemist and journalists.

"I ran absolutely exclusive only tricks," said Miss Leigh, a parapsychology student and wife of a Turin newspaper's chief reporter. "Each of these experiments were done in my own home and there was no collusion."

Recalling the materialization of the red peppers, Prof. Enzo Mosele, who is a chemist, said: "There were no tricks. We opened half a dozen books and read words at random from them. The words were 'Sunday,' 'morning,' 'kitchen,' 'red,' 'hot' and 'two.' Then one of us chose number four, the word 'red.'

"The lights in the room were extinguished, except for a candle, he said.

"Then we held the edge of a plate. After about 30 seconds, it began to get hot and both our fingertips. Then we heard four taps — one after the lights were put back on there were four red peppers on the plate. It was amazing."

Turin electronics engineer Antonio Randaccio said:

"There are no tricks. Because he has no chance what we want him to do. I have actually seen him materialize five branches freshly cut from a bush."

Journalist Paolo Gonzetti, a specialist in parapsychology, said, "Last February, at the home of a friend, he materialized a live sea horse like this amazing person."

Miss Leigh recalled another live materialization.

"I mentioned the sea, and immediately she talked of a South East beach.

Then I said, 'Somebody who pronounces this name like this.' Within 30 seconds, a live turtle dropped with the table."

PSYCHIC Paolo Paris with live turtle he materialized in front of experts

Paris, who is founder of psychic studies at the Alcmeon Institute for Mental Dynamics in Turin, explained: "These things happen in less in classic what we want him to do. I have actually seen him materialize five branches freshly cut from a bush."

Gals thought up everything from Barbie dolls to bombs!

WOMEN INVENTORS WHO CHANGED THE WORLD!

A TOY expert was behind the success of the Barbie doll which was developed by Ruth Handler

Women have cooked up a lot more through the ages than three squares a day for their menfolk. They've invented everything from the bra to the atomic bomb!

By SUSAN ALLEGRA

According to Ethlie Ann Vare and Greg Ptacek, authors of Mothers of Invention (Morrow, $17.95), female screamers have contributed hundreds of discoveries to science, medicine and the world of manufacturing but have received little credit for it.

The authors searched the history books and compiled an impressive list of female inventors from ancient times to the present. Here are just a few of the unsung thinkers they found:

● Hypatia of Alexandria, an 11th Century Italian physician, was the first doctor on record to promote hygiene, a balanced diet, exercise and the avoidance of stress for maximum good health.

● Mrs. Samuel Slocum was the first American woman to get a patent when she invented cotton sewing thread in 1794. Her discovery enabled her husband to become a rich textile manufacturer.

● Dame Hannah Graham made her fortune after inventing Liquid Paper. The typewriter corrections fluid won a measure of fame for her because in her job as a secretary she made few many mistakes.

● Carmen Crosby was responsible for the invention of the underpinning shortly before World War I when her corset looked wrong under her new dress.

● Ruth Handler was the inventor of one of the best-selling toys of all time — the Barbie doll. Mrs. Handler was a founder of Mattel Inc. In 1959, she created a "teenage doll with fashion accessories" after watching her daughter play with a grown up paper doll. Barbie sold $500 million worth in her first eight years on the market.

● Lise Meitner was the mother of the atomic bomb. Pictured above is an early model of the bomb.

Hypnotized time travelers discover a future paradise

In mind-boggling research, hundreds of people who were placed under hypnosis have "traveled" into the future and given remarkably similar descriptions of what life on Earth will be like in the years 2100 and 2300.

The amazing similarity of the descriptions convinces psychologist Helen Wambach that these people are, in fact, experiencing events in the future while under hypnosis.

Miss Wambach, famed for her research in reincarnation, said the subjects describe a world where all disease has been completely eliminated and where the average life span exceeds 300 years.

When death finally does come, they report, it's peaceful and painless.

"But not a single subject of the 1,000 I have worked with so far has painted a totally rosy future world," Miss Wambach added.

The subjects speak of an ecological disaster of some sort that has rendered the air unfit to breathe, killed vegetation and forced people to live in cities covered by transparent domes.

"One fact stands out from all the rest for both time periods (2100 and 2300): There are a lot less people, and ever but don't live on Earth but in space colonies.

"Those remaining on Earth are rehabilitating it. One subject said, 'I volunteered to remain Earth.'"

The reseeding efforts are just barely getting started in the year 2100.

"By 2300, nature is healing the wounds. Vegetation and wildlife are returning," said Miss Wambach.

"The air is becoming more breathable.

"One unusual thing reported in 2300 are floating stations. You walk into a room in which there are tubes, and you simply 'inhale' food through them.

"And there is a very amusing report to the Earth's recovery.

"A number of my subjects have reported that they are being visited by intelligent beings from somewhere else in the universe. Beings who measured Earth's difficulties and came in space ships in contact with their computer technology," she continued.

"People are living to be over 300 years old, 250 is a typical age at death, and all diseases have been eliminated as causes of death.

"Instead, people simply choose to die at some point. But they are not frightened by death at all, describing it as being peaceful and painless.

"The world of the future described by my subjects is at peace. A world recovering from some of its past mistakes and exploring the frontiers of space hand in hand with other intelligent beings."

Psychologist and reincarnation researcher Dr Lee Sprinkle said

"I'm very familiar with Miss Wambach's work — and it's very exciting. I do think that people are mentally able to travel into the future. There has been impressive past work indicating that this is possible."

— JANICE JAMES

We'll all live to be 250 — and thrive in a Garden of Eden

Courageous cancer girl, 5, wants to know:

Will anyone still love me — when I lose my pretty hair?

Little Guadalupe DeLira

By CINDY O'NEIL

"Nobody will like me when I lose my hair," sobs 5-year-old Guadalupe DeLira.

The little girl, called "Lupita," is suffering from leukemia and is currently undergoing chemotherapy in an effort to battle the fatal disease. The treatment is making Lupita's long brown hair fall out and the child is devastated.

"Lupita is so sick and depressed," says Mary Guillen Lupita's aunt. "If she could get cards and letters she would see that people really do care about her."

NEWS readers could warm Lupita's heart with their outpourings of love.

Lupita's hospital family is praying that her deadly leukemia goes into remission. But right now the brown-eyed little girl from Bryan, Tex., can't even attend kindergarten or go to her Brownie meetings because she is so sick.

Lupita must travel to Houston, Tex., two or three times a week for treatment, and the growing 300-mile trip is taking its toll on this embattled child.

Caring NEWS readers can write to Guadalupe DeLira c/o Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Avenue, Lombard, Ill. 60148.

Fat woman tried to bite his thumb off!

A motorist should have paid you to a woman who accompanied him to pickup truck outing for a date — when he right on, she almost bit his thumb off!

Cops in Columbus, N.J., said a "very large-set" woman climbed into Bob Berkman's pickup and asked if he wanted a date.

He declined, saying he had to go to work. The aggrieved woman then protested, "This is a robbery," and grabbed the truck's ignition key.

When Berkman, 30, tried to get the key back, the unidentified woman bit his thumb and fled to a nearby motel.

Killer boy, 13, gets off easy!

Two women were butchered in their home by a heartless killer — who got off incredibly light three-year jail sentence.

Convicted of murder in the brutal case was a 13-year-old boy, who the judge described as "short-tempered and easily frustrated . . . filled with anger and hostility."

The victims were Kilye Shinaime, 36, and her daughter, Linda Christa Shinaime, 16, who were both murdered in their Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, home.

Gal starts car while mechanic is under the hood — and he loses his pinkie!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A mechanic told the woman not to start the motor as he worked under the hood of her stalled car, but she cranked it up anyway — and chopped off his finger.

"The flywheel damned near ripped my head," said Stan Harris, who was being a Good Samaritan after the woman's car stalled in the middle of a Hamilton, N.J., street.

"I had just told her to sit there and not touch anything while I was working on the motor, but she did just what I told her not to do," said Harris, 23.

'She did just what I told her NOT to do'

"My face was a couple of inches from the flywheel when she cranked up the motor, but it got the little finger on my right hand.

"She thought I said, 'Start the motor,' when I actually said, 'DON'T start the motor.'"

Minutes earlier, Miranda Vickers, 24, had stopped by G & E Auto Body, where Harris works, to pick up her 1980 Volkswagen.

After Mrs. Vickers pulled out, Harris saw her car coast to a stop in traffic as he ran over to help.

"He was just trying to be nice and help the lady," said a cop.

"She said she was really sorry," said Harris. "But that doesn't bring my finger back.

"It's gone for good."

Paramedics took Harris to a hospital, but docs said the finger couldn't be reattached.

Police later arrested Mrs. Vickers for driving without a license.

Cops had ordered her car towed to the garage the previous day because it was uninspected and unregistered.

Pucker up!

Here's some great kissing trivia for people who like to smooch:

- A single kiss reduces your life by three minutes because it increases pulse rate and strains the heart.
- Kissing can make you sick. Doctors say 250 types of bacteria, many of which can cause illness, are exchanged every time two people kiss.
- Kissing can help you lose weight. The average smooch burns up three calories — the equivalent of a dinner mint.
- Thirty-seven percent of men and 57 percent of women close their eyes while kissing passionately.
- Global surveys consistently name Americans as the best kissers in the world. The French come in second. Italians third. Russians last.
- The longest screen kiss was three minutes, five seconds long. It was set 60 years ago by Jane Wyman and Regis Toomey in the film You're in the Army Now.
- The most common kiss is a peck on the cheek.

Super student is letter-perfect

High school whiz kid Mark Chen studied hard for his Scholastic Aptitude Test and came away feeling he'd done a super job. But even he was shocked when it was announced he earned a perfect score!

The North Dallas, Tex., senior was one of only a handful of students in the nation to score a remarkable 1,600 points out of a possible 1,600.

"I felt good when I came out of the test but I didn't expect this," he said. "I've had a hard time believing it."

Deaf brothers gunned down because they couldn't hear

Two brothers were gunned down by a group of strangers during a hassle they probably didn't even understood — because they were deaf.

Cesar Vieira, 31, was shot dead and his brother, Edward, 35, was wounded by a carload of teenagers.

"The teenagers yelled and screamed at them," said Police Detective Mitch Robbins.

"They probably didn't understand what was going on."

The French are world's greatest (DOG) lovers

In France, man is a dog's best friend. The French are so anti-crazy they have twice as many dogs as children — and often treat their pooches better than their kids.

Frenchmen shell out a mind-boggling $3 billion a year to feed, bathe and groom their dogs. And the hottest of spots can be seen perched in posh restaurants, dining right alongside their elegantly dressed masters. But some serious-minded folks see trouble on the horizon.

Anthropologist Jean-Pierre Digart says his countrymen are rapidly reaching the point "where we place some animals above men."

AFTER pretty Susan Sutton died of a gunshot wound, her transplanted organs gave new life to four other people.

ORGAN DONOR

Susan Sutton's liver, heart, bones, skin and eyes went to help others when the young woman died — but the rest of her went into an unmarked grave because her family couldn't afford a decent burial.

The pretty young woman's organs changed the lives of four people:

- Her heart went to a dying father of two who now will lead a normal life.
- Her liver went to a 47-year-old accountant who will be able to go on with his brilliant career in research.
- One of her corneas went to a 5-year-old boy blind since birth, making it possible for him to see for the first time.
- Her other cornea went to a grandmother, 67, who had been blind for 15 years. Thanks to the transplant, she can once see her grandchildren's happy faces.

But tragically — after all the 27-year-old woman had done for others — there was little gratitude shown to Susan or her family.

The Moore, Okla., woman's parents say hospital employees promised Susan's funeral would be taken care of. But after her organs were donated, the family found it was illegal for medical organizations to provide any financial benefits to families who donate their loved ones' organs — and a proper funeral is considered a financial benefit.

By SUSAN JIMISON

"The state would have given her a pauper's funeral but if they did it they could have kept her body for a year and used it for science before burying it," said Susan's mother, Judy Sutton.

"There was no way I was going to take a chance they would do that. "So I begged, borrowed and stole to see that, after what she did for others, the state didn't get her body. We had graveside services in the rain and we still don't have a headstone for her. I'll have to borrow the money for her grave marker and pay it back somehow."

The Suttons' financial problems are especially severe since Mrs. Sutton's husband Robert, an oil field worker, lost work because of the depression in the oil industry. Mrs. Sutton is a full-time housewife and the couple have four other children to support.

But their money troubles caused them special anguish

OUTRAGE!

Our daughter gave her heart, eyes & liver to help others — but they didn't even give her a decent burial!

DESPERATE parents of organ donor Robert and Judy Lyston.

when Susan accidentally shot herself in the head on February 16.

She was declared brain dead the following day and because the young woman had said many times that she wanted to be an organ donor, the Suttons gave permission for doctors to use her body for transplants.

The grieving mom and dad say in the two short hours they were given to make their decision, hospital employees promised them Susan's remains would be taken care of.

"They told me it would be a nice funeral and to pick any funeral home we wanted," Mrs. Sutton said. "The funeral home picked her up, but things weren't taken care of. They couldn't even put her in a casket until someone paid — and no one paid.

"Susan's aunt came here to view her and had to see her niece for the last time lying undressed on a slab. It was a nightmare that I hope no other parent ever has to go through."

The desperate mom said she scraped together the money to put Susan in the ground, but she is still upset that her daughter gave so much and got so little in return.

"She was such a loving person and she wanted to be a donor so she could give something to little kids," Mrs. Sutton said. "She would be happy to know that her organs helped others.

"Yet for all she did, she still doesn't even have a marker on her grave. It hurts. It just shouldn't be allowed to happen to organ donors and their families."

TV game shows tune out stress

By KEN BASSETT
Correspondent

Do you want to relieve stress? Just tune into a TV game show, say two psychiatrists.

"Watching TV game shows is just like a logic when you're filled with stress," said Dr. Emery Breitner.

Dr. Albert J. Rasso agreed. "TV game shows are certainly one of the best and easiest therapies for stress."

Game shows fight stress in several ways, said Dr. Breitner.

"They drag you in to be a participant and before you know it you're involved and your cares are forgotten," he explained.

"Game shows also confirm one of your wildest fantasies, in which dreams of getting incredible things come true.

"Trips around the world, Cadillacs, furniture — they're all given away before your eyes.

"Just knowing that wishes can be granted makes you feel better."

Watching game shows can also raise your self-esteem, he said.

"You can also feel superior because of the weird way a lot of contestants act. They wear crazy clothes, look around the set, and scream and holler like a bunch of fools.

"No matter how you felt before, you know you're not making an idiot of yourself before the entire country."

Game shows can also bring families closer together, said Dr. Rasso.

"Before you know it, the whole family is involved in a fun activity.

WATCHING TV game shows like Jeopardy! can help you unwind, and enjoy competing with the others. There's no stress, so filled experience with your family — and that's good for
